3 Soviets Win Nobel Prize for Cosmic Counter

British Biochemist Receives Award For Insulin Work

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Three Soviet scientists won the 1958 Nobel Prize in Physics today for building a better atomic mousetrap.

One of their traps — a cosmic ray counter — is now circling the globe in Sputnik I. Others are in nuclear laboratories around the world.

The winners are P. A. Cherenkov, I. M. Frank and Igor E. Tamm, all Moscow professors. They were cited jointly by the Royal Swedish Academy "for the discovery and interpretation of the Cherenkov effect," the basis of a novel cosmic ray counter.

The 1958 chemistry prize was awarded to Dr. Frederick Sanger, 40-year-old British biochemist, for pioneer work on the molecular structure of insulin, the protein that diabetics lack. Remaining to be awarded this year are the prizes for medicine and physiology and the Nobel Peace Prize. The awards are made from a fund set up under the will of Sweden's Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite.

Posed Dilemma
The award to the Russian scientists posed a dilemma for Soviet leaders angered by the award last week of the 1958 Nobel Prize in Literature to another Russian, poet-novelist Boris Pasternak.

The dilemma is this: Pasternak is the author of "Doctor Zhivago," a novel critical of communism. Never published in the Soviet Union, it is a best-seller in the West. The Soviet press has demanded that Pasternak reject the award and his $41,420 cash prize. The Red line is that Nobel authorities were motivated by politics and named him "in the interests of fanning the cold war." Only today, the Russians announced ex-

Prosecution Opens Case Against Police

LISBON — The prosecution began its case today against Ira Cunningham, 51, and Robert Carroll, 35, former East Liverpool police officers, in the seventh in a series of police burglary trials.

Ralph Finley, secretary of the Smith and Phillips Co. Store, was the first witness called by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw in the trial of the two ex-officers charged with the 1952 entering of the store.

Finley's testimony began at 11 a. m., following a bus trip to East Liverpool by the jury of eight women and four men to view the store premises.

The panel was seated Monday afternoon by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard after which opening statements were made by Prosecutor Brokaw and Atty. Samuel Fekett of Youngstown, counsel for the defense.

The jury was excused this morning after three minutes of testimony by Finley at the request of Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, co-counsel for the defense, to argue a point of law. Alexander objected to attempts by the prosecutor to have Finley relate the losses of the store starting about 1951. Alexander maintained such evidence was not related to the trial.

The jury is composed of Mrs. Mabel Huston of 823 Franklin St., Ronald C. Fleischer of 1541 State St., and Eugene Early of 620 N. Howard Ave.; Mrs. Garnet Wurzel of Wellsville; Mrs. Blanche Jones and Mrs. Bernice Bennett of Lisbon; Mrs. Beatrice Schneider of North Georgetown; Mrs. Faye Mangus of Alliance Rd 5; John Miller of Sallineville; Mrs. Arlene Kornbau of Washingtonville; Carl Murray of Minerva Rd 2; and Mrs. Temple Eells of Lisbon Rd 3. Mrs. Mary Green of East Liverpool Rd 2 is the alternate.

Boris Pasternak Evicted by Union

Nobel Prize Winner Criticized Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — Nobel Prize winner Boris Pasternak has been accused of treacherous behavior and thrown out of the Soviet Writers' Union.

The union's expulsion of the 68-year-old author of "Doctor Zhivago," a novel critical of communism, was announced by the Literary Gazette today.

This will certainly tighten Pasternak's social isolation. Foreigners in Moscow speculated that the expulsion could take away his right to work.

The Literary Gazette announcement said the unanimous decision to expel Pasternak had been taken at a meeting of the union's governing presidium Monday.

Pasternak and his "Doctor Zhivago," a best-seller in the West that has never been published in the Soviet Union, have been the targets of a bitter Soviet press attack since the Swedish Academy of Letters awarded him the $41,420 Nobel prize for literature last Thursday.

He said he hoped to be able to get to Stockholm for Nobel ceremonies Dec. 12 to receive it in person.

The Literary Gazette said the decision by leaders of the Writers' Union "stresses that Pasternak's actions are incompatible with the calling of a Soviet writer, are against the traditions of Russian literature, against the people, against peace and socialism."

The literary organ gave no indication whether Pasternak's wish to make the trip to Stockholm would be granted. The Communist party newspaper Pravda has declared that if there was "a spark of human dignity left in him," he would reject the award.

Pasternak's ouster from the Writers' Union strips him of the title "Soviet writer." It is certain to close many of the avenues of personal and professional association he has enjoyed, even after publication of his novel abroad.

Many felt the ouster also would mean restriction of his right to work, especially on translations and other activities which reached him through the Soviet government agencies or the Writers' Union.

Nova Scotia Rescuers Still Seek Bodies of 72

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP) — The search for bodies in the death-filled Cumberland No. 2 coal mine continued at an agonizingly slow pace today. A great barrier of rock still entombed 72 miners in the depths.

Progress through the rock and debris left by Thursday night's thunderous underground upheaval was so slow there was no definite indication when the main group of bodies might be reached.

Officials held no hope for any of the miners still missing.

Former President Comments on Gallup Poll

By The Associated Press
President Eisenhower carried his campaign to New York today after a renewed attack on Democrats he described as spend-thrifts, visionaries and boondoggers.

But with the elections just a week away, former President Harry S. Truman said Democratic prospects appear "almost too good to be true."

Commenting on a Gallup poll prediction of possibly sweeping Democratic gains in Congress, Truman told newsmen in St. Louis: "They said the same thing about the Republicans in 1948, you remember."

That was the year Truman upset Republican Thomas E. Dewey whom most pollsters had tabbed as the favorite.

Aluded to Same Thing

Vice President Nixon alluded to the same thing in a campaign talk at Flint, Mich. But whereas Truman was cautioning Democrats against overconfidence, Nixon was cautioning Republicans.

Red China's Guns Sporadically Active

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Red China's guns shelled the Quemoy islands sporadically today, one of the even-numbered days on which it is pledged to exempt areas where supplies are unloaded.

A Nationalist Defense Ministry spokesman declined to say whether any shells hit the beaches, airstrips or warships in violation of the Communist pledge.

However, military sources said no sea convoys were en route to Quemoy. Stormy weather in the Formosa Strait again kept them from putting to the test Communist Defense Minister Peng Teh-huai's broadcast invitation to resupply the islands without artillery hazard on even-numbered days.

The Defense Ministry announced Red coastal batteries opened up at 9 a. m. after a nine-hour lull in the slackened but still deadly offshore war. It said 103 shells hit the islands up to noon.

Procedure Announced Regarding Cage Tickets

No adult general admission tickets will be sold for this year's basketball games in the new senior high school, Fred E. Cope, athletic director, reports.

General admission tickets will be available for students, however, he said.

The west and east seating areas in the gymnasium are split into five sections each. Students holding Student Association tickets and those with general admission tickets will sit in the center three sections on the west side, leaving seating sections for adult reserve seat ticket holders.

Tickets will be available in four weeks at Fisher's News Agency and Heddleston's Drug Store.

Season tickets will be on sale only until the first game, which is Dec. 9. Single game tickets will be on sale the week prior to each game.

W. Virginia Blast Kills 22 Miners

Investigators Seek Cause of Explosion

BISHOP, Va. (AP) — Investigators descend 300 feet into an explosion-racked tunnel at the Pocahontas Fuel Co. coal mine today, probing for the cause of the second disastrous blast at the site within 21 months.

Twenty-two miners were killed Monday, in the same section where 37 miners met death in a gas explosion Feb. 4, 1957.

Crawford Wilson, chief of the West Virginia Bureau of Mines, called it a shocking disaster and said: "We will uncover the cause."

A formal public hearing will get under way Wednesday. Some 5,000 persons milled near the mine shaft entrance in this southwest Virginia mountain community while four rescue teams worked in relays to reach the missing men.

188 Miners in Chambers

There were 188 miners in the underground chambers when the blast shook the area at 8:28 a. m. Wilson was in a party of workers groping through the gaseous, dense tunnel towards the blast scene at mid-afternoon.

It was his call by special telephone hookup that brought the word to mine offices: "I want to report that 22 men are dead. It is definite there has been a gas explosion."

His report spread quickly across the hillsides where the surviving miners, their families and friends of the victims were waiting in a grizzle.

Red Cross and Salvation Army workers passed out cups of coffee. It was 5:43 p. m. when the shaft elevator reached ground level, bearing two bodies.

Howard Richardson, a veteran miner, said the bodies were scattered over an area of about 200 feet.

Wilson said it appeared the min-

Storm Sewer Project Would Solve Current, Future Drainage Problems

The proposed city-wide storm water sewer project is designed not only to bring an additional 439 acres of new housing developments into the city's sewage system, but also to rectify drainage problems in the older sections of town, R. M. Linder, chairman of City Council's sewage committee, reports.

Linder amplified the background and purposes of the project in response to some public comment questioning the advisability of adding new sewerage lines to an already "overburdened system."

The project, which has been under study by the sewage committee for about two years, would be preponderantly an extension of the previous storm water program approved by Council in 1948, Linder said. This phase would bring the new allotments into the city's network.

However, he said, the project also would include the installation of feeder lines and catch basins

Education Group Explains Needs Of Ohio Schools

Governor O'Neill Is Keynote Speaker At Columbus Confab

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio schools need more of everything if they are to improve, 3,000 delegates to the State House Conference on Education were told today.

More of everything, that is, except school districts. The goal in that direction is fewer, but better, districts.

The conference was the climax of a two-month statewide citizens' effort to determine school needs, an effort in which some 50,000 Ohioans participated in some 500 local meetings.

The conference opened in Columbus' Veterans' Memorial this morning with a keynote address by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Transcends Party Lines

"We are all dedicated to the principle that every child in this state is entitled as a part of high birthright to have the opportunity to secure at least a minimum quality of elementary and secondary education," O'Neill said.

He added that the desire to find adequate answers to the problems of education "transcends party lines or any other groupings of the people of this state."

The conference heard four morning reports on school problems, re-

3 E. Palestine Area Persons Hurt In Crash

Three East Palestine area residents were injured, one critically, in a collision Monday afternoon on Pennsylvania Rt. 51 in Darlington Township.

O. L. Moore of Enon Valley Rd 2 is in poor condition and Bertha Moore of the same address is in fair condition at the Salem City Hospital.

Robert L. Timmins, 28, of Darlington Rd 2 is under observation at Providence Hospital in Beaver Falls, Pa.

Moore suffered a possible fractured pelvis, fractured right leg, abrasions and a scalp laceration, while his companion received multiple fractured ribs, multiple abrasions and a scalp laceration.

Timmins suffered lacerations of the face, neck and left leg.

Pennsylvania state police at Rochester said Moore was driving west on a side road and stopped at a stop sign at the intersection with Rt. 51.

He then pulled into the intersection and into the path of Timmins' pickup truck.

The officers estimated $150 damage to Moore's sedan and $275 to Timmins' truck.

Mayor Refuses Recommendation

Lisbon Council Rejects Fireman Applications

LISBON — The applications of two village residents for membership in the volunteer fire department was refused by Village Council at its meeting Monday night.

The men, Paul Kuhns, a member of the Board of Public Affairs, and Dean Senanefes had attended the fire school held each Monday night in the fire department at Village Hall and took special instruction at the firegrounds.

Mayor John Todd told councilmen he did not recommend their appointment. He said, however, that he might recommend their appointment at Council's next meeting.

The mayor gave no reasons. Council also refused payment to Gerald Sanders for fire calls he went out on while he was a member of Village Council. The law-makers based their action on an informal ruling by an Ohio attorney-general which held that the positions of volunteer fireman and village councilman were incompatible, and that one person could not receive payment for both jobs.

However, it was pointed out that another attorney-general's informal ruling held the opposite viewpoint.

Councilman E. G. Heilbroner said he didn't feel Council should take action under informal rulings. Too many informal rulings are not upheld by the courts, he said.

Councilmen voted to purchase badges and shirts for village firemen at a cost of $31.20. They also authorized the installation of two street lights, at the intersection of Oak and Chestnut Sts. and on North St. in Rose Addition.

Mayor Todd reported he had discussed with highway department officials the low curb on N. Market St. which permits rain water to run over lawns in that area. He said the department would suggest remedial action in the near future.

Councilman Robert Kelm said construction of the sidewalk on Thomas Road from Chestnut St to High St. was awaiting removal of Ohio Edison Co. poles from the right of way.

Councilmen discussed hours and rates for school guards, but took no action.

Police Chief Dalton Pike and Street Commissioner Thirl Flugan attended the meeting at which all councilmen were present.

Council's next meeting will be Nov. 10.

Former Policeman Charged With Thefts

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A former Warren policeman has been charged with five burglaries in which $86,697 was taken, Police Chief Manley R. English said Monday night. He said nine other persons are involved in the thefts which began three years ago.

English said he believes Richard Stanley, dismissed from the police force last December, planned all of the burglaries.

Stanley was arrested last Tuesday and arraigned the following day. English said he withheld information on the arrest "so we could have more time to pursue our investigations."

Among the thefts, English said, were two at the Griswold Co. where Stanley had worked before joining the police department. Some $10,000 was taken in 1955 and another $20,000 in November, 1956.

Other burglaries charged to Stanley were $20,923 from a State Liquor Store last June, $8,000 from the Sanitary Milk Co. last March and $7,774 in cash and furs from the Rappold Co. in October, 1956.

John XXIII 262nd Pontiff Of Catholics

Venitian Patriarch Succeeds Pius XII In Papal Throne

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Angelo Cardinal Roncalli was chosen pope today.

Roncalli, patriarch of Venice, becomes the 262nd supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church and its half billion followers. He is 76 years old.

Chosen in secret conclave by the College of Cardinals, the new pontiff chose the name John XXIII (23rd).

He succeeds Pope Pius XII, who died after a reign of 19 years and seven months, one of the longest reigns in the history of the church.

The new Italian pope, in the Roman Catholic view, is in direct succession to St. Peter. His titles, as officially listed by the church, are:

"Bishop of Rome, Vicar of Jesus Christ, Successor of the Prince of the Apostles, Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church, Patriarch of the West, Primate of Italy, Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Province of Rome and Sovereign of the State of Vatican City."

Has Many Friends Abroad
The new pope, bald-headed and benign looking, has been one of the most popular prelates in Italy. He also has many friends abroad, particularly in France where he spent eight years as Papal Nuncio.

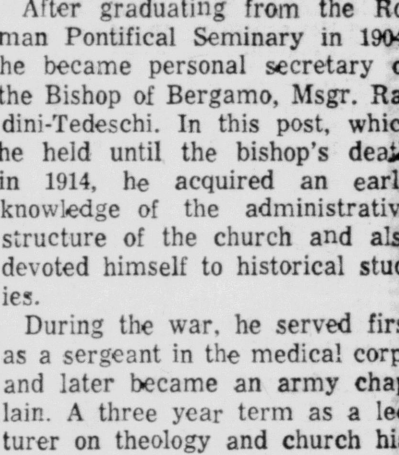

He has a sturdy health and is an untiring worker. His affable manners and quick-witted conversation have made him a well known figure at many diplomatic receptions.

He was born as the son of a farmhand in a small village in the province of Bergamo. The people of this region, the Bergamaschi, are known to be good-humored and easy going and young Roncalli lived up to this reputation.

After graduating from the Roman Pontifical Seminary in 1904, he became personal secretary of the Bishop of Bergamo, Msgr. Radini-Tedeschi. In this post, which he held until the bishop's death in 1914, he acquired an early knowledge of the administrative structure of the church and also devoted himself to historical studies.

During the war, he served first as a sergeant in the medical corps and later became an army chaplain. A three year term as a lecturer on theology and church his-

New Mahoning High School, Annex Proposed

Proposed Mahoning Local High School

Goshen Center School and Proposed Annex

Voters of the Mahoning Local School District are being asked to approve a $1,355,000 bond issue at the Nov. 4 election.

If the issue receives the required number of votes, a new high school and a three-room addition to Goshen Center School will be built.

The High School will have a capacity of 1,100 students.

The main entrance will give access to a spacious lobby, the gymnasium, auditorium, library administration area and the main corridors leading to first and second floor classrooms.

The gymnasium will be one of the largest in the area with a seating capacity of 1,300 people. It will have a stage over the locker room area, with roll-away bleachers for an additional 750 people.

The auditorium will have a fixed capacity of 650 people, and will be of the multi-purpose type.

A large library will provide adequate space for books and periodicals, with special rooms for student research and study groups.

The cafeteria, with a capacity of 275, will also double duty as an all-purpose room and study hall. The building will contain nine special purpose classrooms, 11 standard size classrooms and five over-size classrooms.

The exterior of the building will be of brick, and the windows of glass block set in heavy aluminum frames over clear glass ribbon windows.

The addition to Goshen Center School will include three elementary classrooms, an all purpose room provided with a stage and dressing room and storage areas. A new main entrance and lobby are also included in this project.

The exterior finish of the elementary addition will be similar to that described for the high school building.

Queen To Be Crowned At Beaver High School

A tri-state harvest queen will be crowned Saturday at Beaver Local High School during the third annual harvest festival sponsored by the Beaver Local Booster Club.

London's Dirtiest

By HAL R. COOPER

LONDON (AP) — It is entirely possible that Alf Riggs is the dirtiest man in London.

Alf, an amiable fellow of 47, peddles coal in hundredweight sacks for home heating. The price per sack is 10 shillings—$1.40.

A hundredweight, through some quirk rooted in British tradition, is not 100 pounds but 112 pounds. Selling coal in 112-pound batches may sound peculiar to Americans, but it is a logical way of doing things in Britain. For one thing, few British houses have basements. Most of the coal is burned slowly in open grates, and a hundredweight lasts quite a while.

"Some of the places my customers keep coal you wouldn't believe," Alf says. "They keep it in dog kennels, chicken coops, garages, outdoor metal bins, or even just piled on the ground in the open."

"Fact is, I have a few people who keep their coal in the bathtub so they won't have to go outside for it when the weather is bad. Actually, this makes it impossible for them to have a bath for months on end. I wouldn't be surprised if some of them are almost as dirty as I am."

Alf peddles his coal in a truck which will hold up to 70 hundredweight sacks. His working costume consists of a pair of old shoes, heavy pants, a shirt, vest, cap, blue bandana tucked around his neck, and a large leather pad over his right shoulder.

Alf was asked whether he considers himself dirtier than his only conceivable rival — a chimney sweep.

"Chimney sweeps!" roared Alf. "Why, chimney sweeps aren't even in it with me. You take soot, it's a soft kind of dirt, like. But this bleeding coal dust is a hard dirt. It sticks in my scalp and under my fingernails, and around my eyes, and in the wrinkles on my face."

"Why, some nights it takes me and the old woman and our old iron washtub a good hour to get me fit for a trip to the pub for a pint of wallop."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

The jingles, slogans, and other repetitive advertising matter which we see and hear over television make deep imprints in our memories. Psychological research proves that repetition of a product name, coupled with pictures and words, help to sell products. We buy our detergents as much for the words we associate with them as for their cleaning qualities.

If we repeated some of the beautiful texts from the Bible with the lift of a commercial TV announcer, we might sell some religion. Spiritual uplift, faith, and brotherly love could be made desirable by repetition and by dramatization.

We need not wait until television repeats those scriptural words of encouragement. We can begin the process in our daily speech and in our living. We can afford to be repetitive in our personal spiritual presentation.

California, Alaska Note Increase in Populations

WASHINGTON (AP)—California and Alaska have led the states in population growth since the 1950 census, the government reported today.

The Census Bureau said California registered the largest numerical gain while Alaska—soon to be the 49th and largest state—had the biggest percentage increase.

Under revised population estimates for July 1, 1957, six states gained more than one million inhabitants since the national head count in April 1950.

Tenant Home, Barn Destroyed by Fire

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A tenant home and barn on the farm of Albert C. Nozik, Mentor Lagoon Yacht Club owner, was destroyed by fire Monday night. He estimated the damage might reach $200,000—much of it in maintenance equipment for the yacht club. Inside the barn were a 25-foot cabin cruiser, three dump trucks, three tractors and a road grader.

Cause of the blaze was not determined. It started in the barn and spread to the six-room frame house of Richard Dolan, a tenant. Dolan was at the grocery at the time, and persons attracted by the flames helped his wife and three small children to safety.

Don't Lose Sight of Issue!

Ohio voters whose attention has been riveted on Issue 2 by the hammering of the pros and cons should be careful not to lose sight of Issue 1.

The danger is the fact Issue 1 is not controversial.

Because it is non-controversial, many voters may go to the polls on Nov. 4 without an opinion.

The tendency is to vote "No" on issues that are not understood.

Issue 1 clearly calls for a vote of "Yes."

IT IS A proposal to amend Ohio's constitution to permit federation of existing units of government for the sake of more efficient public service.

It would be used only in counties containing at least one city with a population of more than 50,000.

These population centers would be the core of whatever federation would be permitted, with the consent of all voters who might be affected.

No federation would be possible without the consent of majorities in the central cities, areas outside the central cities and areas as a whole.

This would be a three-way safeguard against the loss of political sovereignty.

THE PROPOSED Metropolitan Federation Amendment, as it is titled, would never be mandatory. It would be permissive.

If the amendment is approved on Nov. 4, any metropolitan area qualified to use it (any area with a central city of 50,000 or more population) could follow a specified procedure to set up a charter commission to draw a plan for federation.

The plan might call for a single purpose, such as cooperative police protection, or for several purposes. Voters, themselves, would have to decide how many federated services they wanted.

All powers not specifically designated for federation would be reserved to the townships, municipalities, or counties, which now have exclusive rights.

The most that could be accomplished under the proposed amendment would be countywide police and fire services, water and sewer service, highway services and so on. The least would be a combination of authority by a city and an adjoining township to perform a single service, such as fire protection.

In no case, however, could federation go across a county boundary.

It is estimated that by the 1960 census, two thirds of Ohio's population could benefit by the proposed amendment.

THIS IS the first large-scale proposal in Ohio to bring state law into line with the realities of metropolitan needs.

Two thirds of Ohio's population is aware of these needs through direct daily experience. A municipal policeman's authority to make an arrest now stops at a mythical boundary line, though police problems do not stop there. Fire protection, road maintenance, zoning regulations, water and sewer service — these, too, are divided up by mythical lines that have no bearing on actual needs.

The Metropolitan Federation Amendment gives the people of Ohio the right to cooperate with one another for their own welfare, if and when they feel like it.

There is nothing controversial about that. Issue 1 should be passed without opposition. The only doubt about its passage comes from the fact it may not be understood well enough to command a statewide vote of approval.

For County Courts

Columbiana County voters, except those residing within the East Liverpool municipal court district, will choose three county court judges Nov. 4.

The courts are those which were established last Jan. 1 to replace the former justice of the peace system. The present judges were named for one-year terms. Now, after nearly a year of operation, voters must elect three judges from a field of six candidates for new four-year terms.

One of the incumbent judges, Luther Donbar of Columbiana, has performed well and we recommend him, along with Wade A. Loop of Salem, who was a justice of the peace for nearly 13 years, and Earl Spalding of East Palestine, also a former "JP."

Mr. Donbar, Mr. Loop and Mr. Spalding understand the function of the courts and past performances are such as to merit voters' consideration. The other candidates are James L. MacDonald of Center Township, John C. Fitch of Lisbon and Harold J. McCall of Rogers. Samuel J. Crawford, one of the present judges, will not appear on the ballot since he was ruled ineligible because he was an unsuccessful commissioner candidate at the primary.

Civil Defense

Civil defense is more than an organization. It is the marshalling of non-military resources in preparation of the day when an emergency may come.

Salem has a civil defense organization, with quiet "behind-the-scenes" operations being directed by William Wark, who has been serving as Columbiana County CD chairman as well as city chairman. Mr. Wark has spent many hours away from his dry cleaning business to supervise this program of readiness and now he has the good assistance of Bruce Cox of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., who accepted the mayor's appointment as city director of civil defense.

Despite general public apathy over civil defense, Mr. Wark and Mr. Cox will continue with the serious business of planning and carrying out the recommendations of the government's Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. The time may never come, and that we pray, but it's reassuring to know that the local CD group has plans for our safety.

I shall not act like a hog simply because I have the necessary horsepower.

I shall not permit a foot pedal to give me the idea I am Mister Big.

It shall be my sincere resolve to realize I am never more of a hypocrite than when I assume the Ten Commandments do not apply when my motor is running.

Stop, Caution and Speed signs, I shall realize, are not conceived by professional comedians, painted by enemies of pleasure and erected by committees for the promotion of nose-thumbing.

I shall respect the rights of my fellow man, no matter how it hurts.

I shall not leer, sneer or curse another human being for enjoying the same right I have to be outdoors while in motion.

My auto horn shall not be regarded by me as a symbol of personal authority.

I shall realize that going through red and yellow lights, while a faster way to reach the green pastures, is not the right way.

I shall not cut a corner because of a whim or a belief I am Number One Driver on a V.I.P. Parade.

I shall not leap into my car and rush from the church parking lot ignoring all the principles of religion immediately after the sermon on human kindness.

I shall never lose sight of the hard fact a man who slays in a heat of passion is no less a murderer than I am if I take a chance on killing somebody through personal impatience.

I shall not permit the age-old Biblical con-

It Feels Good When He Misses

Latin America and the U.N.

By ROBERT R. METZ

A quiet but effective Latin American revolution is taking place in the U.N.

It means a little more work for U.S. diplomats, but it should result in more significant support for many U.S. policies on East-West issues.

What the revolution amounts to is closer consultation and cooperation among the 20 "south of the border" republics, and the strong presentation of their viewpoint in the behind-the-scenes negotiations where U.N. decisions are made.

A long-time observer at U.N. headquarters sums up the change this way:

"It used to be the U.S. — or any other major power — would decide on a resolution to be offered, and then go to each Latin American delegation and say 'This is what we're doing. We'd like your support.'"

"Now, the U.S. knows that if it wants Latin American support, it had better make sure the group is consulted during the formulation of the resolution."

WHAT'S BROUGHT about the change?

Ambassador Jose A. Correa, Ecuador's permanent U.N. representative and chairman of the Latin American group, explains:

"The role of small nations in the U. N., is becoming more and more important, but unless we act together we lose our effectiveness. When the U.N. was founded, we Latin Americans had a natural power because we were one-third the membership — and one-third the votes. Now, we are only one-quarter.

"But by working together and using our imagination, we are trying to make constructive contributions to policies before they are presented to the Assembly for a vote."

The ambassador says he and his colleagues maintain a close relationship with the U.S. delegation, adding:

"I must say our suggestions are received in a most friendly manner."

Correa stresses that the Latin nations do not operate as a solid bloc, except on such questions as election of Assembly officers. The group discusses issues regularly and tries to decide on a unanimous course of action. But any member is free to vote as it sees best.

Other leaders of the Latin American "new look" are: Venezuela's Carlos Sosa-Rodriguez; Mexico's Rafael de la Colina; Panama's Alejandro Remon, and Uruguay's Enrique Rodriguez Fabrega.

THE LATIN AMERICANS flexed their collective muscle decisively during the emergency Assembly session on the Mideast. They let it be known that a Western-backed Norwegian resolution was not suitable because it did not take into account the Latin position on military intervention. That doomed the Norwegian proposal.

When the Latin Americans heard the Arab states were drawing up a resolution, they presented their views in a private meeting, and got what they wanted into the resolution that was adopted.

The importance to the U.S. of South and Central American support was underlined in the vote on whether Red China's admission should be debated at the current Assembly session. There were 44 votes against the debate, and 20 of them were Latin American.

However, none of the Latin American nations defended U.S. policy on Red China's admission during the general debate. This sparked rumors that the group was going along under U.S. pressure. A leading diplomat from the area denies this was so, pointing out that all the Latin nations recognize the Nationalist government on Formosa.

"This is basically an East-West issue," he adds, "and on such questions we support, whenever we can, U.S. leadership."

But another Latin American source implies that a change in U.S. policy on this point may be welcomed by his group, saying:

"Free world policy on Red China was made in Washington, and if it is to be changed, the change must be made in Washington."

THE TENDENCY of the Latin nations to talk independently to the U.S. reportedly was evident during the recent Washington meeting of foreign ministers with Secretary of State Dulles. According to one source at the U.N., "never have the foreign ministers been more frank in their statements to a U.S. Secretary of State."

The Washington conference produced agreement on increased inter-American economic development and cooperation, and it was hailed from the U.N. rostrum by Colombia, Venezuela, and Ecuador as the start of a "new era" in hemispheric affairs.

But the private attitude among some Latin American delegations at the U.N. is more of a "wait-and-see" one. As one veteran diplomat commented, with reference to the Far East crisis:

"Whenever the U.S. is in trouble, the cry goes up in Washington 'let's have more inter-American unit.'"

Religious Factor Plays a Part in Campaigns

Appointment Lewis S. Strauss, a Southerner and a conservative Republican, to secretary of commerce, while not intended by President Eisenhower to be related to national politics, nevertheless is causing some talk about political implications.

This seems to be an ear in which attention is paid, politically at least, to religious factors in campaigns.

Politicians keep talking about it as an important one to bear in mind in selecting candidates or in making appointments to high office.

Lewis Strauss happened to be born in West Virginia but he grew up in Richmond, Va., where his grandparents settled in 1849. After serving as private secretary to Herbert Hoover, food administrator during World War I, Mr. Strauss went to New York City.

He worked his way up there in an investment banking firm and became a community leader. He was for 12 years president of the Temple Emanu-El congregation of New York City, one of the foremost Jewish church organizations in America.

He is also a life trustee of Hampton Institute, one of the prominent Negro colleges in the South, and he is still president of the Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton, a top institution in the field of science with which Albert Einstein was identified.

MR. STRAUSS is the first member of his religious faith who has been chosen in more than a decade to the cabinet of a president of the United States.

Though little is ever said about it in public, the politicians usually advise a president to try to have the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths continuously represented in the cabinet and on the Supreme Court.

With the selection of Mr. Strauss, all faiths now are to be found in the cabinet as well as on the Supreme Court.

Coming as the incident does at a time when the "hate" organizations are trying to create antagonisms between different religious groups in America, this appointment is evidence to the rest of the world, especially the Soviet Union — where the Communist government encourages anti-Semitism — that prejudices of a religious nature are of no concern to either political party in the United States today in the selection of persons for high office.

The recent attempt to fasten anti-Semitic or anti-Catholic labels on Southern Democrats is due largely to mistaken beliefs on the part of those people in the North who are ignorant of the true feelings of the Southern people.

Sen. Kennedy of Massachusetts, a leading Catholic, got an extraordinary vote, for instance, for the vice-presidential nomination in the last Democratic National Convention.

tion largely because of the votes of Southern States.

MEMBERS of the Jewish faith are prominent in some of the white citizens' councils in the South, and some of them have been serving as legal counsel on a volunteer basis in Southern communities in connection with litigation over civil rights issues.

Perhaps the South's leading lawyer on the integration question is Charles J. Bloch of Macon, Ga., author of "States Rights — The Law of the Land," a book which contains the most powerful argument anybody has made against the Supreme Court's 1954 decision in the desegregation cases.

He was selected by Sen. Richard Russell to make the principal nominating speech when the Georgia senator made his bid for the presidency at the Democratic National Convention in 1948 and got 26 votes.

Those few people who accept the theory that anti-Semitism is related to the so-called "Confederate underground" do not realize that Judah P. Benjamin, a member of the Jewish faith, served successively as attorney general, secretary of war and secretary of state in the Confederate cabinet of Jefferson Davis.

Former President Truman, who doesn't have in his make-up a scintilla of religious prejudice, uttered a truism once when Justice Frank Murphy of the Supreme Court died and he was being urged to appoint in his place a member of the Catholic faith.

Mr. Truman is reported to have told friends that, while he never would allow religious considerations to bar anyone from an appointment, he did not feel any obligation to appoint someone just because of his religious affiliation.

THE POLITICIANS do not always agree on this. Thus, when Justice Brennan was appointed by President Eisenhower, the word in administration political circles was that the attorney general had been advised to look first among the able jurists of the Catholic faith in making his recommendations, as there was at the time no one of that faith on the highest court.

It seems unlikely that in appointing Lewis Strauss to be secretary of commerce, President Eisenhower had anything else in mind except the unusual ability and capacity of the former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

It will be recalled that President Truman first appointed Mr. Strauss to that commission. The latter's persistence enabled America to push ahead with the development of the hydrogen bomb over the protest of some misguided critics.

Mr. Strauss served with distinction in the Navy in World War II and holds the rank of rear admiral, retired.

His knowledge of atomic energy questions, which now have become of great importance in the "Atoms for Peace" plan which he has consistently championed, will come in handy in the post of secretary of commerce, as will his business experience.

Trouble Ahead

By WAMBLY BALD

NEW YORK

There's trouble ahead space trouble — unless international controls are established for guided missiles, earth satellites and moon probes.

That's the contention of Andrew G. Haley, a leading authority on space law who has often been referred to as "Haley's Comet" because of his extensive travel and participation in international programs dealing with space problems.

Demanding that the United Nations start doing something for "law and order" in outer space, his first argument is for the safety of earthbound people.

"WE'RE GETTING the rockets up, but what about their coming down?" asks Haley.

"At the present time, neither the United States nor Russia has provided mechanical safety controls for the protection of life and property on the return trip to earth. Anybody can get hit!"

Haley, president of the Missiles Jets & Automation Fund for the Development of Interplanetary Projects, warns that satellites returning to earth do not render themselves harmless by atomizing in the atmosphere.

"They come down in big chunks of metal, at present absolutely uncontrolled," he said. "And there is no assurance that these chunks couldn't prove to be a lethal metallic rain on the Empire State Building or, for that matter, on the Kremlin."

"AT PRESENT the chances of being hit may be called negligible, but they keep increasing. Within the coming year the United States and Russia each will have about 75 satellites in orbit. The Chinese will have about a dozen and Great Britain about 20. Why doesn't the U.N. get out of its ostrichlike attitude and take some action?"

Haley, whose articles on space problems have appeared in leading technical and law journals, is the author of a new book, "Law of the Space Age," published by Public Affairs Press in Washington.

For years he has been urging international controls, and not only for the protection of human life. "Because there are no proper controls, there is also a serious threat to vital international radio communications," he said.

"THE FIRST Sputnik launched by Russia used certain key radio frequencies in direct violation of international law and nothing was done about it. With more and more satellites going up, radio interference could become serious indeed."

As to public safety, Haley conceded that even with dozens of satellites soon going up the odds of being conked by falling chunks will remain quite slim, considering the size of the earth.

Still, the average man begins to wonder. Isn't life already too full of hazards? Why add one more?

The field of Workman's Compensation needs prompt attention, especially in the field of differential payments to older claims. The week ending October 18, 1958, 92,009 persons were receiving regular State Unemployment Payments; 63,728 were paid under the 13 weeks extension. This makes a total of 155,737 unemployed who are registered at the Bureaus. This is an urgent need for improvements in our State Unemployment Compensation system. A change would mean more purchasing power for our Ohio people, which would benefit business, farmers and our unemployed workers. I will keep my promises.

Examining the Cost of New Drugs

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

In the months ahead, two things will probably happen to you:

First: Either you, or some member of your family, will be laid low. In all probability, you or yours will be cured in a relatively short space of time by a drug that did not exist 10 years ago.

Second: You will be reading in your paper of a legal battle between six leading drug companies and the Federal Trade Commission.

The government's complaint is monopoly and price-fixing of certain antibiotics plus a false patent deal. Heated charges will be made on both sides.

The drug industry's profits, which have been good, will come under attack. Basic issues may be aired on changes in the patent law. One certainty we can promise: Our free enterprise system as it is practiced in the fiercely competitive drug industry will be thoroughly aired.

If simultaneous with these hearings you are confronted with a big bill from your pharmacist, it will be only human for you to applaud the charges against the drug makers. But before you applaud too warmly, give a backward glance into the era before "wonder drugs."

WHAT DID AN AVERAGE pneumonia case cost 20 years ago? Some $300 to $400 for hospitalized care. The average time lost from work was five weeks. Today after you've paid for a visit or two from your doctor, some $15 to $20 worth of drugs should get you back on the job in less than two weeks!

I've watched my small daughter's fever drop from a burning 105 degrees to normal in less than seven hours. Several of the nation's major TB sanitariums have been emptied and closed because of new drug discoveries. Also thousands of mental patients have been aided.

When you pay for the pill that will relieve your pain and cure your illness, should you expect to pay simply for a few chemicals? No. Here are the things the drug-makers must consider in pricing your medicine.

The size of their market: The cure for the rare illness must be researched and developed along with the remedy for the common cold that will be consumed by millions.

Competition: One company develops a cure, yet how long will it be before another company comes forth with an equally good or better remedy?

The life span of a drug: Today it is perilously short—scarcely five years is the estimate. Companies are causing the obsolescence of their own products via their own research. Last year the drug industry spent 125 million dollars on research, or eight cents

Eisenhower Hits 'Spendthrifts'

President Praises 'Years of Progress'

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower wheeled up his campaign siege guns for fresh attacks on the Democrats today after assailing them as reckless spendthrifts and promoters of hare-brained schemes.

The President moved onto the New York state political battleground from Pennsylvania where Monday night he called again for election of a Republican Congress a week from today to assure sound, sane and progressive government.

In a Pittsburgh speech at a party rally, Eisenhower said his administration has won spectacular gains for America since he took office, and added: "These are the finest six years of progress in our country's history."

The President said further that under Republican direction "the promise of American life has no limit."

He said sensible Republican policies have brought the workingman more dollars than all the boondoggles ever conceived by spenders—and without "flooding the economy into inflation."

In advance of the Pittsburgh talk, which was carried on television and radio over an 18-state Eastern and Midwestern network, Eisenhower told a cheering airport crowd at Charleston, W.Va., in a swat at the Democrats:

The voters should "repudiate with our whole strength, with our whole souls, these phony doctrines that would merely put the private citizen in a wheel chair furnished him by the federal government."

Eisenhower came to New York to boost the state GOP ticket led by Nelson A. Rockefeller, the candidate for governor, and Rep. Kenneth B. Keating, bidding for the U.S. Senate.

Rockefeller and Keating rode from the airport with the President and shared the midnight welcome he got from Times Square crowds on the way to his Astor Hotel suite.

The two candidates then conferred with Eisenhower about 25 minutes and arranged to accompany him this afternoon to a couple of party worker rallies.

The President planned informal talks at each of the rallies. He scheduled conferences later in the day with Rep. Robert Keane, New Jersey GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate, and Fred R. Zeller, the party's nominee for governor of Connecticut.

N. Jackson Man Fined For Illegal Hunting

Glenn Gardner, 40, of North Jackson was fined $25 on each of two counts this morning by Mahoning County Judge Harold Rickett of Austintown.

Gardner pleaded guilty to the illegal possession of rabbits and pheasants.

Earl Ressler, Mahoning County game protector, arrested Gardner at his home Saturday night after he had received a tip that Gardner had been hunting out of season.

Ressler said hunting season for rabbits and pheasants doesn't begin till Nov. 15.

tory in the province of Bergamo followed.

In 1921, Pope Benedict XI called him to Rome and entrusted him with the task of reorganizing the church's missionary work in the Congregation Propaganda Fide (for the propagation of faith).

Pius XI, who succeeded Benedict in 1922, also took a strong interest in the missionary work and Roncalli kept his post for four years, traveling to many foreign centers.

His diplomatic career began in 1925 when he was sent to Bulgaria as apostolic visitor. Early in 1935 he moved to Turkey as apostolic delegate for Turkey and Greece. Late in 1944 he became Nuncio to the Fourth French Republic. A week later, he handed his credentials to Gen. Charles de Gaulle. Pope Pius XII had chosen Roncalli for a delegate mission, the Vatican having been represented earlier at Vichy by Valerio Cardinal Valeri.

For eight years he stayed in Paris, and some in his entourage say that he virtually "conquered" the French capital. In 1953, Pope Pius XII showed his recognition for his Nuncio's successful mission by making him a member of the College of Cardinals.

on was challenging the current accuracy of the polls. Taking issue with the forecasts, Nixon told a cheering crowd of 3,000 GOP partisans: "In the last two weeks of this campaign something is happening. I'm unable to appraise it but when you have big crowds like this, something is happening. . . . We can give them the licking of their lives."

Nixon flew home to Washington today for a few days' rest after a week of arduous campaigning for GOP candidates in the East and Midwest. He'll be back on the campaign trail heading westward Thursday and Friday toward a three-day speaking tour of Alaska during the weekend.

Flew to New York — Eisenhower flew to New York City Monday night after ripping into the Democrats anew in an 18-state television address in Pittsburgh.

In the same fighting technique he unveiled in California last week Eisenhower tore into the opposition as being a divided party which he said could promise only a feuding, futile deadlocked government.

Rainy weather was blamed for smaller audiences than local Republican leaders had forecast at both Pittsburgh and at Charleston, W.Va., where Eisenhower spoke briefly before going into Pennsylvania.

He got enthusiastic responses in both talks, however. A crowd estimated at 3,500 cheered lustily as the President credited his administration's economic policies with whipping the recession.

"The formula of the radical wing of the opposition," he said, "was a resort to panic and a raid on the taxpayers' dollar."

ports reduced the thinking of the 50,000 Ohioans into capsule form. The reports by categories:

School Program—Reported by Orville Jones, education director, Ohio AFL-CIO:

School money is inadequate because of public apathy. Buildings, laboratories and libraries are inadequate, but, in some instances, could be put to better use. There is a need for a more uniform and better-enforced standards of administration.

There should be minimum standards of pupil attainment. The high school diploma should be given only to students meeting such standards and simply certificates of attendance to those not qualifying. There should be more emphasis on English, mathematics and science.

There should be some control over extra-curricular activities to keep a reasonable balance.

There is a need for better vocational training and improvements in special services, including better counselling service.

School Finance — Reported by Rep. Frances McGovern (D-Summit):

Schools should not be limited to five-year operating levies. Ten year levies drew some support as did a suggested policy to make school levies permanent until removed by referendum vote. While some emergency levies and bond issues now requires 55 to 60 per cent favorable votes, most local conferences favored simply majorities for passage.

BIDS CANCELLED

LISBON — The State Highway Department has advised that bids on the house on the Toot property on Route 164, south of Lisbon, were cancelled and the contractor was given the home for his disposal. Bids for purchase and removal of the home which was taken by the state for improvements on Route 164 were supposed to be opened last Tuesday.

pulsion of Pasternak from the Soviet Writers Union.

Rated Among Elite — On the other hand, Cherenkov, Frank and Tamm have long been rated among the elite of Russian atomic science. They are the first Soviet nuclear scientists ever to receive a Nobel citation. And the Kremlin likes recognition of Soviet scientific achievements. A cry of politics in this case would be out of character. But could the scientists go to Stockholm to collect their $4,320 Dec. 12 if Pasternak is kept at home?

In layman's language, the cosmic ray counter developed from the Cherenkov effect amounts to a highly efficient trap for elusive subatomic particles.

The Royal Swedish Academy said that "without the use of Cherenkov detectors, the discovery of the antiproton which was made in Berkeley (Calif.) in 1955 would scarcely have been possible."

Atomic counters based on the Cherenkov effect are used today in laboratories all over the world to check on the behavior of high energy particles.

They supply precise information on the particles' charges, velocity and direction. That is just what the counter does in Sputnik III.

13 Countians Inducted Into Armed Forces

LISBON — Thirteen countians left today for Cleveland for induction into the armed services, Draft Board 16 reported.

They are: Constantine Anargiros, Donald Ray Cunningham and Donald Keith Golden of East Liverpool.

Robert Errol Donahoe of W. Lincoln Way, Otis John Lohr of RD 3 and Howard Lincoln Wise of RD 5, Lisbon.

Robert Paul Exline of Elkton, William Titus Pepper of Negley, Harry Nelson Raffle, Donald Robert Fulk Jr., of RD 1, and Walter Paul Macuich of RD 2, Salineville.

Fred Homer Green of Kensington RD 1, and Robert Lee Knight of East Palestine RD 2.

All were volunteers, according to Mrs. Elaine Griffith, clerk. Seven will leave for physicals on Nov. 4, and nine will leave for induction on Nov. 28, she said.

158 Pints Collected In Blood Drive

One hundred fifty-eight pints of blood were collected at Monday's visit of the Cleveland Regional Red Cross Bloodmobile in the First Methodist Church.

Miss Hazel Linn, executive director of the local Red Cross, in expressing her gratitude to the public for responding to the urgent call for more donors, said that this number more than doubled the 71 pints collected at the Aug. 18 visit.

Another collection will be made Dec. 15, and another large number of volunteers is needed then also to insure the continuance of the free blood program which services 38,000 in northern Columbiana County in addition to transients who become ill and are hospitalized here and those who are injured in train, highway or other accidents, Miss Linn said.

The increased number of donors at yesterday's collection was due to the combined efforts of Mrs. Harold Wykoff, recruiting chairman, and Mrs. Leo Beall, who recruits plant donors, Miss Linn stated.

Mrs. Walter Worman, head of nursing recruitment, and members of the Florence Nightingale Registered Professional Nurses Association, headed by Mrs. Howard Covert, assisted the Cleveland Regional personnel.

Members of the Eagles Auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Arthur Stark, provided food for the canteen and served the personnel and donors.

The Jaycee-ettes, who furnished a baby sitting service, also were credited with assisting in recruiting donors.

An additional number of staff assistants for the heavy schedule was procured by Miss Ann McLaughlin, who heads the group of stenographic workers for the program.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

(No president before has ever challenged the labor racketeer. Nor has any chief executive ever spoken so bluntly of labor abuses. This column is the first of two giving the untold background story of Eisenhower's decision to personally tackle the vast corruption.)

There is one campaign which won't end for the President of the United States after Election Day. It is a campaign which Dwight D. Eisenhower has chosen, more in anger than in sorrow, for himself. Already in some circles it is being referred to as "Operation Fumigation."

This will be the President's personal drive against the political power of corrupt union chiefs. Behind the Chief Executive's unleashed anger against labor racketeering in San Francisco the other day is the untold story of his jaw-dropping study of the mobs and the growing influence in politics of all labor.

Details of his constant interest in the brutal and arrogant rackets come from unimpeachable and thoroughly knowledgeable sources close to the President since he took office in '53.

ANGER IN HIM over the increasing power of the hoods over the law and will of the people was held in check until he had the platform he thought would be the most effective stage from which to challenge it personally.

It was President Eisenhower himself who decided to make the anti-racketeering speech in San Francisco. It was he — and not his word merchants — who decided to use the term "fumigation."

Mr. Eisenhower thinks that the rackets literally stink — and if it sounds uncouth to use that word in reporting events within the rarified atmosphere of White House inner sanctums, it is nonetheless true that he has used the noisome phrase himself.

This speech was not just a pot-boiler stewed up for the campaign. Those who know how the President prepares a talk, know it couldn't be. He works on each address personally right up to the moment of delivery.

EVEN THEN I've seen him break away from the notes on the cards before him and lash out at a particular thing which angered him or which he had forgotten to include despite six weeks of preparation for a major talk.

This occurred when he delivered his last State of the Union message. It had been mimeographed. It was distributed. The wire service said "hold for release," etc.

after the texts were on 2,000 news desks.

The President went up to dress for his appearance before Congress. In his own bedroom, he hacked at his copy of the text. He then drove, almost to hysteria, the men who had worked on it.

For when he did deliver the talk to the Congress and assembled diplomatic representatives, Mr. Eisenhower inserted new paragraphs and ideas he had discussed with no one.

IT WAS IN THAT tradition that he worked on his blast at the labor rackets — unprecedented in White House history. No other President has challenged American labor — clean and corrupt — in such a frontal attack.

This was not a declaration of war on trade unionism. That would have been inconsistent with Mr. Eisenhower's record of appointments to the cabinet, to U.N. delegations and to diplomatic missions as well as his own legislative proposals.

The President has said privately many times in recent months that what he will war on will be the political power of the mobs working through corrupt unions. He believes that he has seen evidence of great and increasing political influence of all unions. Therefore, he reasons, this means that the corrupt outfits have also increased their political strength.

The President believes that much of this political power springs from the ability of the corrupt unions to use unlimited funds in campaigns. However, he does not see this as the lone abuse.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER in many private conversations has expressed anger over the absolute failure of any force to control the treatment of union funds by corrupt officials as their own. Therefore, he has said, there is nothing to prevent a corrupt union chief from using hundreds of thousands of dollars to help himself, even to the injury of the union he controls.

The word the President has used again and again is that he is "disgusted" with what he believes is an obvious concentration of power that of itself is out of hand.

That's why one of Mr. Eisenhower's most important projects during his final two years in office will be "Operation Fumigation."

Quakers Vault Into 14th Place In State Rankings

Alliance Is No. 1; Palestine Ranked 18th, Canfield 19th

For the first time this season, in seven weeks of playing, Salem's ever-improving Quakers have appeared from no where and have vaulted into undisputed possession of 14th place in the state-wide rankings of Ohio's scholastic football powers.

Earle Bruce's squad gained the right by virtue of its 19-18 upset win last Friday over previously unbeaten and 7th ranked Youngstown East. The Bears dropped to 10th place.

The Alliance Aviators took over the top spot in the poll with 233 points to rank just seven points better than second place Warren who garnered 286 points.

Alliance got 12 first place votes and Warren four.

Around the district East Palestine was rated 18th and Canfield 19th.

Brookfield's Warriors, one of two teams to beat Salem this year, was ranked in a 24th place tie with Columbus Rosary and Bexley.

A total of 45 sports editors took part in the voting today, the largest response of the season so far. Only 35 voted last week.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The race for Ohio's high school football championship turned today into a free-for-all.

Alliance's Aviators, paced the pack for the first time in the weekly Associated Press poll. The Stark County club, tied once in seven starts, led Warren's Black Panthers by only 23 to 286 poll points as 45 sports editors rated the teams on a 10-9-8-etc voting basis.

Alliance came up with two last-period touchdowns to defeat Canton McKinley 16-0 last week, but the big Aviator boost was a gift from Warren which knocked Massillon off the top rung by 6-0. Warren, first in the poll all season until last week when it was victimized 8-0 by Canton Central Catholic, climbed from fifth to the runner-up spot.

Massillon skidded to fifth. Marion Harding, only clean record team in the top 10, moved around Cleveland Cathedral Latin into the third spot, the latter dropping to fourth. Marion whipped Ashland 56-14, and Latin triumphed 16-0 over Cleveland John Adams.

Springfield, nosed out 8-6 by Hamilton for its lone loss in seven games, soared from eighth to sixth on the heels of a resounding 82-0 win over Dayton Stivers. That shoved Newark, 52-0 victor over Coshocton, down a notch to seventh. Canton Central dumped Canton Lincoln 14-12 and graduated from tenth to eighth as Youngstown East, a 19-18 loser to Salem, dropped from seventh to the last spot.

Elyria clung to ninth with a 56-0 verdict over Findlay. From here and there: Massillon may have clipped itself out of the state title. Jim Snively, 150-pound halfback, returned Warren's opening kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown, but a clipping penalty nullified it. Massillon had gone 100 straight games without being shut out until Warren did it. Last time the Tigers failed to score was in 1948 the Aviators handed Chuck Mather's team a 14-0 setback.

Glenn (Tiger) Ellison's Middletown team has a 2-4-1 record, but the Middies are having fun with a new, exciting "Lonesome Polecat" offense. Ellison has his center over the ball, all his linemen 15 yards away on one side of the pivot, and three backfielders 15 yards away on the other side, with the quarterback 10 yards behind the center. Tiger devised the formation to convert after touchdowns, but with touchdowns scarce he put it in the regular repertoire and scored twice with it in the 24-14 win over Dayton Roosevelt. The center, eligible for passes, has caught three.

All coaches have troubles—but think of the boss of Little Miami down in Warren County. In its second year of football the school has seen opponents run up scores of 38, 44, 47, 46, 49, 56 and 90 for a total of 370. Little Miami's point total is zero.

Columbus Rosary defeated Dublin 61-0 Friday, and in six games has shut out the foe 285 to 0. That 82-0 Springfield romp over Dayton Stivers wasn't the school record. Back in 1913 the Wildcats beat Washington C. H. 98-7.

Alliance, for the first time since 1932, has gotten past Massillon and Canton McKinley without defeating the Tigers 8-8 and beating the Bulldogs.

Junie Farrell, whose Barberton Magics play all the hot-shots year after year, says "Steubenville, at full strength, is the best team in the state." The Big Red rolled over the Magics 29-7. Steubenville lost only to Massillon and Weirton, W. Va., and some of its stars were out of both games with injuries. Brilliant, up to this year, had never won more than four. But under Charley Becca the Blue Devils have seven in a row and a 280-0 scoring record.

Mansfield's Don Ragsdale ran for four touchdowns, one a 96-yard kickoff return, but the Tigers lost 32-26 to Sandusky. Ragsdale went 212 yards in 25 tries as he ran his point total to 80.

Alliance and Warren, the poll leaders, do not meet. The Aviators have Youngstown North, Akron Hower and East Liverpool coming up, while the Panthers face Lorain, Sharon, Pa., and Youngstown South. Lorain's Harold Jones could be a Panther problem this week. The 172-pound junior gained 119 yards against Fremont, scored two touchdowns within a minute and a half, and threw a two-point conversion pass for a 22-21 victory.

Jerry Mills, Mount Vernon halfback, scored on a 72-yard run against Columbus Whitehall, then suffered a broken leg on a kickoff return. With the Mounts behind in the last quarter, 138-pound right halfback Larry Savage told Coach Rex Jarvis to "let me carry the ball on every play and I'll win it." Jarvis did, and so did Savage. He scored from 40 yards out, and then squirmed over from six yards away with another touchdown—the winner—with just 32 seconds left. Coach Gordon Larson's unbeaten-united Marion Harding Presidents rolled for 529 yards in beating Ashland 56-14. Pete Porietis, Marion halfback, had touchdown runs of 12 and 21 yards nullified by penalties, but tallied on a 48-yard pass and a 67-yard interception.

Meeting To Form Volleyball League Set Monday Evening

The 1958 organizational meeting of the Salem Volleyball League will be held this Monday night at 7:30 at the Memorial Building, John Dawson, assistant building manager, reported today.

Grier, Gifford Are Ready for Browns Game

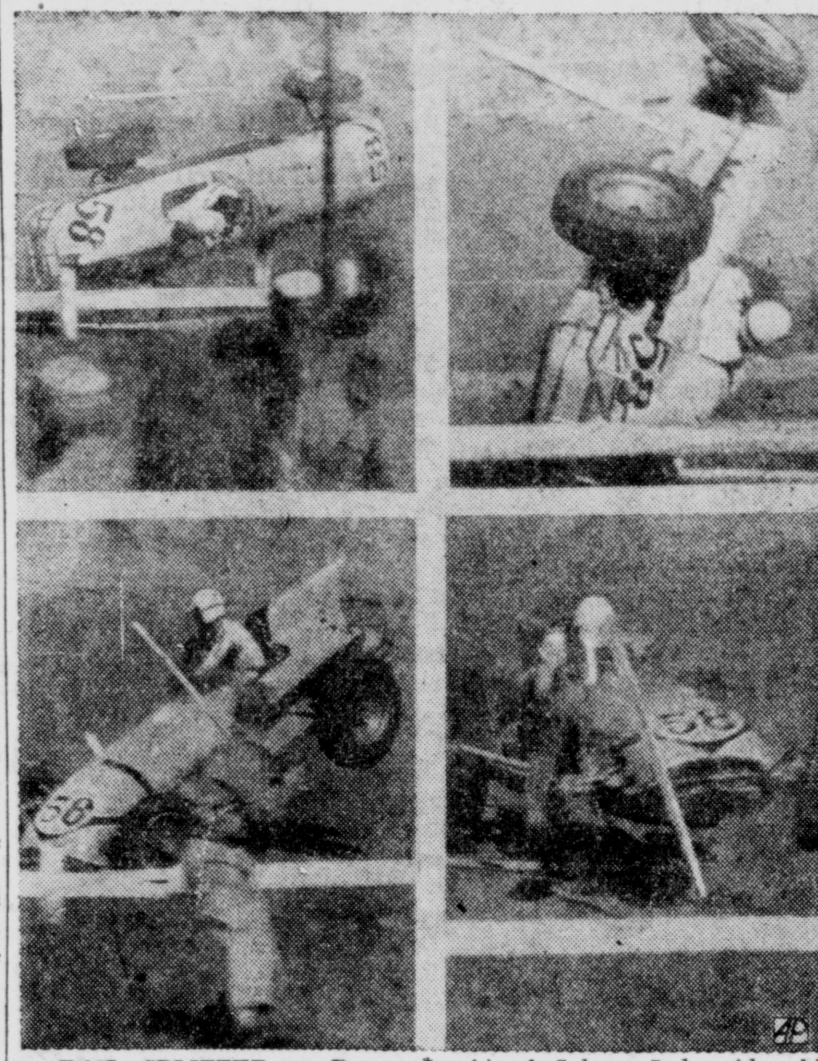

CLEVELAND (AP) — To keep alive their hope of an Eastern Division title, the New York Giants have to win here Sunday against the Browns as the National Football League season reaches the halfway mark.

"They simply can't afford to lose and will be firing all guns at us," Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland said. "Injuries have bothered them, but this is a solid football team."

"They are two games behind us but have two remaining with us. I know how this team feels. The Giants know they can get there if they do it for themselves." Frank Gifford, a key man in the Giants' offense, missed the 17-6 victory over Pittsburgh last Sunday because of torn knee ligaments, but he may be ready to go this weekend. And Roosevelt Grier, huge right defensive tackle, is well on the way to recovery from an injury that required him to play last Sunday with his left arm taped heavily.

Six Ohioans in Starting Lineup For Northwestern's Wildcats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Fifth-ranked Ohio State throws its beefy Buckeyes against an increasingly respected Northwestern at Evans-ton Saturday in a contest that smacks of something like Civil War.

When the upstart Wildcats trot out on the field looking for their fifth win in six starts, they'll have six Ohioans on their starting team, and back at the bench, another seven Buckeye natives will be standing by.

Aside from the Buckeye vs. Buckeye feature, the fray promises to be a beat. For one thing, 11th ranked Northwestern is writhing with vengeance after losing to Ohio State the last nine times. For another, the Wildcats have demonstrated they can more than hold their own against Big Ten powerhouses. They didn't win a game in nine starts last year but this season they rolled over Washington State, Stanford, Minnesota and Michigan before dropping a 26-20 verdict to Iowa last week.

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes and Scout Harry Strobel, told a press luncheon Monday they expect the toughest kind of a game Saturday, possibly as rugged as last Saturday's 7-7 tie with Wisconsin. The deadlock ended Ohio State's 13-game winning streak and gave the Ohioans a 4-0-1 record this year.

With four sophomores, five juniors and only two seniors in the starting lineup, Strobel said, "Northwestern has no defeatist attitude, and you can look for the Wildcats to be on the rebound against us. They're an exciting team. They pounce on fumbles, intercept passes, have good running and some pass catchers who are out of this world. Quarterback Dick Thornton, who kicks, passes and runs, is a great faker and ball handler. He's the stabilizing factor on a well-poised team."

Ohioans on the Wildcat starting line are left Tackle Andy Cvercko of Campbell, right Tackle Gene Gossage of Wadsworth and right End Doug Asad of Fairview Park. Ohioans adding to Northwestern's reserve strength are Tackle Dewitt Hoopes of Massillon, Guard Jim Lutz of Mansfield, End Paul Yanke of Berea, Quarterback Ray Purdin of Greenfield, Guard John Lake of Columbus, Quarterback John Talley of Delaware and Halfback Gene Ascani of Canton.

Ohio State's only question mark at the moment is the left halfback slot. Injury-ridden Don Clark may not start. If Clark is side-lined, Jim Herbstreit will fill in.

East Liverpool Here Friday Night; Ehrhart Keeps Lead In Statistics

By GORDON ARNDT
The Salem Quakers will renew an old rivalry this Friday night on the home lot when they entertain the East Liverpool Potters, a team whose record this year is 2-4-1.

These two teams have met 42 times since 1911 with the southern countians holding a 23-17-2 edge.

Last year Salem took the measure of the Blue and White 28-7 at East Liverpool. The teams have met every year since 1931 except in 1950 when an outbreak of polio put a collar on the Quakers' schedule.

Last week East Liverpool was beaten 18-0 by Steubenville Central Catholic.

RALPH EHRLHART continues to lead the Salem club in scoring and in total yards gained. His big night against Youngstown East last Friday raised his average per carry for the year to 8.2. He tops the team in scoring with eight TDs and three two-point conversions. A total of 13 different players have run the ball and 12 different ones have scored thus far during Salem's drive to a 5-2 record.

Louisiana State Is Nation's Top Team; OSU Drops to 5th

By The Associated Press
Three teams in the top 10 of the Associated Press weekly college football poll are unbeaten and untied, but at least one of them will have its record smeared next Saturday.

Louisiana State, which displaced Army as the No. 1 team this week takes on Mississippi, No. 6, at Baton Rouge.

Colorado is the only other top 10 team with a spotless record, and it is in dire peril. The Buffs, No. 9, meet Oklahoma. The Sooners, No. 7, and with a one-point defeat by Texas the only blemish on their record, have been picking up speed lately.

LSU displaced Army after the Cadets played a 14-14 tie with Pittsburgh. Iowa, with a penchant for knocking off previously unbeaten teams, defeated Northwestern last Saturday and moved from seventh place to second.

Army dropped to third place, Auburn moved up from fifth to fourth, and Ohio State, No. 2, a week ago, dropped to fifth as a result of its tie with Wisconsin.

The remaining top 10 teams as selected by the sports writers and sportscasters, in order: Mississippi, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Colorado and Purdue.

LSU garnered 54 first-place votes in piling up 1,194 points for first place. Iowa was top choice of 33 voters as it accumulated 1,055 points. Army was first choice of 20 voters and Auburn of 23.

Three newcomers jumped into the top 10. Wisconsin took over the No. 8 spot on the strength of its tie with Ohio State; Colorado, beating Nebraska, now is No. 9; and Purdue, winning over Notre Dame, is No. 10. They replace Texas, Northwestern and Clemson all beaten Saturday.

The top 10, based on 10 points for a first place, 9 for a second, etc. (first-place votes in parentheses):

1. Louisiana State (54)	1,194
2. Iowa (33)	1,055
3. Army (20)	989
4. Auburn (23)	951
5. Ohio State (9)	925
6. Mississippi (7)	790
7. Oklahoma (5)	616
8. Wisconsin (2)	333
9. Colorado (2)	338
10. Purdue	292

Fight Results

Dallas — Donnie Fleeman, 182, Waxahachi, Tex., knocked out Ezard Charles, 202 Cincinnati, 6.
New York — Paddy Young, 163½, New York, and Otis Woodard, 163½, New York, drew 10.
New York — Peter Schmidt, 147 New York, outpointed Johnny Gorman, 145, New York, 10.
Fairmont, W. Va. — Holly Mims, 155 Washington, D.C., stopped Johnny Cunningham, 155, Baltimore, 10.
Chicago — Charlie Sawyer, 149, Los Angeles, and Willie Dillon, 147 Chicago, drew 8.

Pete Runnels Made Year's Top Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—Pistol Pete Runnels of the Boston Red Sox, who moved up from a .230 batting average to shoot a near bull's-eye for the batting title, made the American League Comeback-of-the-Year in 1958.

This was the majority opinion of the 103 members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America who participated in the annual Associated Press poll.

Runnels collected 61 votes. Bob Cerv of Kansas City was next with 20, followed by Cal McLish of Cleveland with 9, Arnie Portocarrero of Baltimore 8, Yogi Berra of New York 2 and Jack Harshman and Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore and Mickey Vernon of Cleveland, 1 each.

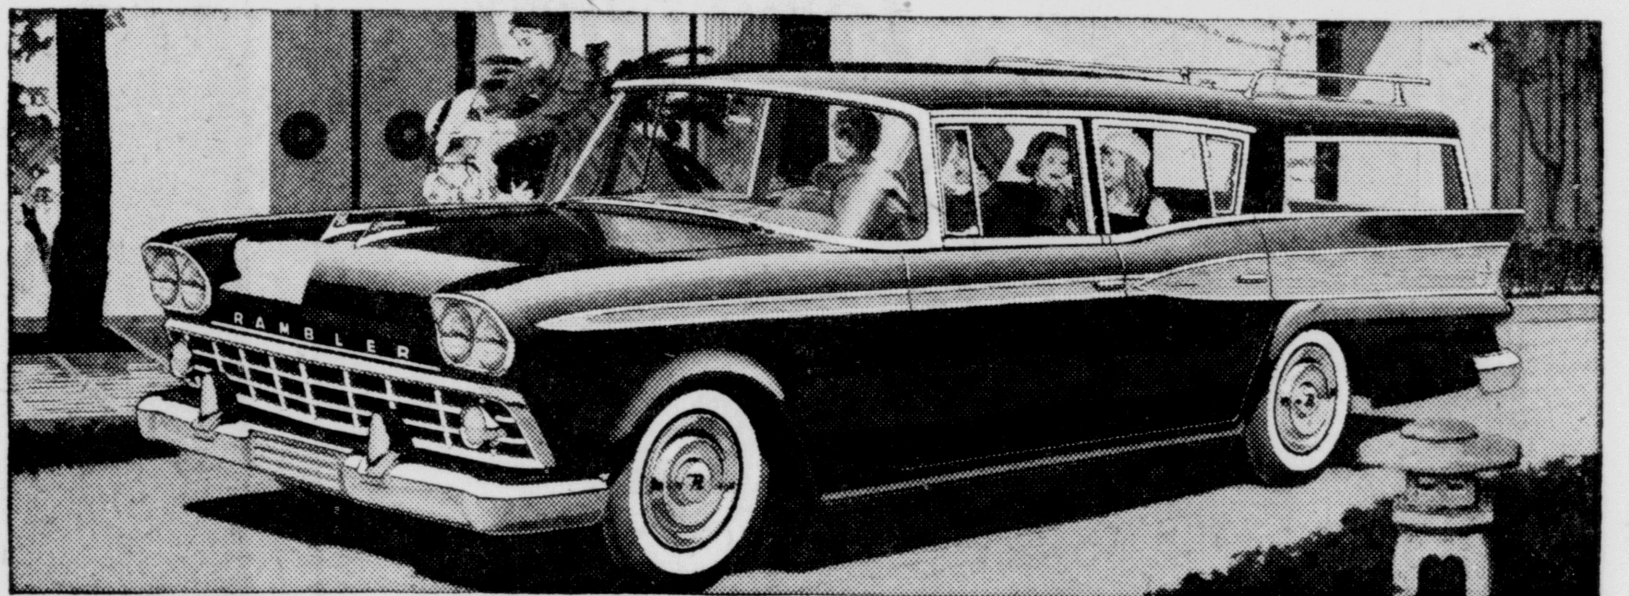

Runnels, 30, with a .322 batting mark, finished second to teammate Ted Williams in a torrid race that was not decided until the final day. Williams wound up with .328.

In 134 games with Washington in 1957, Runnels collected only 109 hits and had his poorest of seven years in the majors. He was traded to Boston last Jan. 23 for Albie Pearson and Norm Zaichin. Cerv batted .305 with 38 homers and 104 runs batted in the past season. His hefty hitting kept the Athletics in the first division over the initial half of the season. In 1957, the big outfielder hit only .272 with 11 homers and 44 RBIs.

McLish, a journeyman right-handed pitcher, was the ace of the Indians' staff. He won 16 games and lost eight, finishing with a commendable earned run average of 2.99. Cal's record last year was 9-7.

ONE-TWO PUNCH

Many Teams Still Try for 1-Point

New Conversion Rule Is Tie-Breaker

By JACK CLARY
By The Associated Press

College football's new conversion rule has broken a few ties and a few hearts but in all, the football is still getting a big kick in the game.

There was a great deal of ballyhoo on what effect the rule allowing two points after a touchdown on a successful run or pass would have in breaking ties, whooping up the crowds and putting new interest into the game.

The coaches favored the new rule over the conventional one point for a place or drop kick during the first four games. But after the fifth game, or halfway point, the kick was back in business, and gaining a bit of impetus from its first, and wealthier cousin, the field goal.

National Collegiate Service Bureau statistics show that place kicks have been successful 65 percent on 484 tries after 744 touchdowns.

Army helped this along last Saturday when Harry Walters was sent in to boot two conversions when the Cadets scored twice in the second quarter against Pitt.

The game wound up a 14-14 tie when Pitt, missing a pass for two points after its first touchdown, connected after the second on an Ivan Tonic to Dick Haley aerial.

This points up the figures that show 152 successful passes for PATs after 303 touchdowns, coupled with 172 successful rushes after 401 touchdowns, for a 46.5 percent average for passing and rushing. The combined average is 55.8 on 808 hits on 1,448 TDs.

A year ago, using the on point rule, it was 65.4 percent on 907 PATs after a comparable number of touchdowns.

Ohio State belied the wishes of the rules makers when it chose to play for a tie after scoring in the third quarter against Wisconsin Saturday. The Badgers led 7-6 and Coach Woody Hayes instructed Dave Kilgore to kick for the point. He made it and Hayes has been the subject of mixed feelings on the tie vs. win subject since.

On the other hand, winless Minnesota "went for broke", when it drew within one point of Michigan at 20-19 in the fourth quarter Saturday. The Gophers spurned a tie, went for a two-pointer on a pass and lost when the pass failed.

The field goal, though to be more of a professional football weapon, also has been a potent college weapon. Fifty-four have been kicked so far, as compared to 32 this time last year, and 64 for the entire season. The record is 82 set in 1952.

It had its effect too. Top-ranked Louisiana State eked out its 10-7 victory over Florida with a field goal last Saturday night, a most recent example.

The national scoring average is a solid 31 points per game, with the supposedly weak-sister East leading with a 36.3 average. This

Green Bay's Spirit Seems to Vaporize

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Coach Scooter McLean of Green Bay admits his Packers' fighting spirits seem to vaporize in the heat of the final quarter of a game.

The Packers succeeded last Sunday in gaining their first National Football League victory against three losses and a tie.

They beat the Philadelphia Eagles 38-35 after leading 38-14 in the first three quarters.

Norm Van Brocklin, Eagles' quarterback, completed 11 of 17 passes for 179 yards as he directed his team to three touchdowns in the fourth period.

"We had done a pretty good job containing him for three quarters," McLean said. "But then our defense started laying back, forgetting all about rushing him."

The coach discounted the idea of Packer panic, insisting it was "just a case of not going all out all the way."

The Green Bay team, except for fullback Howie Ferguson, seemed to relax offensively as well as defensively.

While the Eagles pounced in the final period, the Packers failed to get a single first down. In fact, they never pushed beyond their own 33-yard line.

McLean said he'd stick with the same offensive backfield in the coming game with the Colts at Baltimore.

That means Babe Parilli at quarterback, Gary Knefelc playing slotback, Al Carmichael at halfback and Ferguson at fullback.

University of Rochester Aims for Perfect Season

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Unbeaten, untied, and unscored on for the first time in the school's history—that's the ambition of the University of Rochester football team.

The Yellowjackets have a good start. They've racked up Allegheny, Hobart, Union, Vermont, and Kings Point with 157 points to none. They have only to dispose of DePauw on Nov. 1, Tufts Nov. 8 and RPI Nov. 15.

Rochester's undefeated, untied and scored-on status is a nationwide exclusive. The Yellowjackets had one previous undefeated season—1952—when they won eight games, but that team was scored on.

HEADLESS HORSEMAN?—Apparently dissatisfied with his regulars, Lt. Ellis Hamlett seems ready to confound the opposition by sending in a headless ball carrier at Schofield Barracks in Honolulu. Actually, Dave Thelen, ace back, has his head bowed as he listens to coach of 27th Infantry Wolfhounds.

Metropolitan Opera Celebrates Its 75th Anniversary In Old Home

By HENRIETTA LEITH
NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera celebrated its 75th anniversary Monday night — and probably one of the last few opening nights in the old Broadway opera house—with an air of nostalgia and tradition hanging over it all.

The Met, which hopes to open its 1961 season uptown in a big modern auditorium in the Lincoln Center of Performing Arts, went way back for its 1958-59 opener.

The opening night opera was Puccini's "Tosca," first performed at the Met in 1901 and having its third airing at an opening night. Old-timers could remember Farrar, Caruso and Scotti as the stars of the opening night "Tosca" in 1919, or Jeritza, Martinelli and Scotti in 1922's opening night performance.

Monday night it was Tebaldi, Del Monaco and London, no novices at helping the opera company put on a good show for the opening of its season.

Equally traditional was the performance of the opening night audience.

It was composed of diplomats, stars and former stars of the opera world, the rich and the aristocratic, and the usual sprinkling of celebrities from other parts of Broadway.

In this year of "high" fashion, when every shopgirl is wearing a new Paris look and waistslines and hems are moving into various strange places, even the fashions of Monday night's gala were amazingly traditional.

The right thing to wear to the opera still seems to be, in the minds of most lady patrons, an elegant ball gown—satin preferred—with the waist where it belongs, the figure shown off to its best advantage and the whole picture framed by mink, ermine or chinchilla and the best display of real gems available.

Practitioners of this principle included Mrs. Rudolf Bing, wife of the Met's general manager; Mrs. Anthony Bliss; Mrs. Lorraine Manville; Mrs. August Belmont; and Mrs. Robert Merrill, wife of the baritone.

One new fashion emphasis appeared to be the floor-length sheath-straight satin or brocade coat often matching the gown underneath it.

As for the opera, its classic melodrama appeared to please everyone.

Associated Press arts editor W. G. Rogers said the performance was a "splendid send-off for the Met's diamond jubilee year."

It also was a splendid financial sendoff for the 1958-59 season, with $86,687 taken in on opening night, an all-time record.

New Technical Institute Sought by Gov. O'Neill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today said he would seek to have a two-year state technical institute built in Cleveland.

O'Neill said that if re-elected he would ask the next session of the state Legislature to authorize immediate establishment of the institute. "Speedy action may permit the offering of courses in 1959," he added.

The institute would provide training in industrial and scientific skills to high school graduates

KILLED BY TRAIN

CLEVELAND (AP)—The New York Central's Empire State Express rolled an automobile 100 feet along tracks Monday night and then pushed it over a 75-foot embankment. Pinned inside and killed was Willie Johnson, 32, of Cleveland.

Police said Johnson was fleeing from the home of his estranged wife, Lucille, 27. He told police he broke into her house and after an argument struck her with a hammer. She is in fair condition in Lakeside Hospital.

PRESIDENT-ELECT NAMED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dr. A. Carlton Ernestine, chief of staff of the Cleveland Clinic's division of medicine, is the new president-elect of the American Heart Assn. Dr. Ernestine was elected at the association's convention Monday. He will take office next year.

Two Youths Penalized For Stripping Auto

LISBON — William C. Wendell, 19, of RD 2, Salem, and a 16-year-old New Garden boy received 60-day suspensions of their drivers licenses and fined $15 each at hearings before Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin Monday.

The youths were cited by Hanover Twp. Constable Roy Painter on a charge of stealing auto accessories. They were arrested following investigation of the stripping of a car owned by Wilford Gamble of Rt. 172, near New Garden, Sunday night.

The constable discovered the missing articles in the trunk of Wendell's car.

The two youths also were placed under a 9 p.m. curfew and ordered to refrain from associating with each other.

SHOOTS SON, SELF

CINCINNATI (AP)—County police said an Anderson Township woman, despondent after a recent operation, apparently shot and killed her son and took her own life Monday. She spared her young daughter. Officers said Charles E. Chapman, an engineer, returned from work to find the bodies of his wife, Marjorie, 33, and son, Daniel, 10. Police said a note on an outside door had directed their daughter, Ann, 8 to play at a neighbor's home until Chapman returned from work.

Boy Shoots Father, Dumps Body in River

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Hicks Jr., 18, has admitted shooting his father to death and dumping the body—in a trunk—into the Hudson River, police say.

Hicks was seized Monday, four days after the trunk bearing his father's body was fished from the river.

The Negro youth, a college freshman, was booked on a homicide charge.

Young Hicks hid out in subways, parked cars and parks after disappearing Oct. 23. When arrested in a Bronx park, he had only a dime and carried a loaded automatic.

He was quoted as saying arguments with his father over his education led to the shooting.

The father, a ship's radio officer, was shot once in the head as he lay sleeping in his Harlem home.

Leslie Couillard, 17, a white friend of young Hicks, told police he helped buy the trunk and stuff the body into it. Couillard was held in $50,000 bail as a material witness.
